PAGE ONE (seven panels)

Panel 1: A thin horizontal panel, which spans the page width. It contains only the title.

TITLE:
Open Door

Note: The remaining six panels are all the same size, and have the same camera angle. Each panel is the view seen by a stationary baby monitor camera. There are two panels per row.

Panel 2: Daytime. In a living room. A baby sits on the carpet and plays with toys. There is a large glass sliding door behind the baby, which leads to the yard. The door is open.

Panel 3: A giant tarantula crawls down the outside of the glass door. The spider is about two metres long.

Panel 4: The spider stands in the open doorway. Part of its head is through the doorway.

Panel 5: The spider lunges forward and grabs the baby between its front legs.

Panel 6: The spider climbs up the outside of the glass door. Only the lower half of its abdomen and back legs are visible. The baby is gone.

Panel 7: The spider is gone.
